

LOS MORADOS
BUILDING REPORT VII

N. Fazzini

December 18, 2003 to January 25, 2004

During this intense working period, even though with some beautiful interruptions, the construction works at Morados were very intense.

The working site infrastructure was improved, in order to accommodate the 25 people that are already working at Morados. A big hole was dug in the ground, in order to reach the adequate soil for the foundation of the building. The ironworks of the wall, up to the ground level, were done, and work on the forms for them has been started.

In the following sequences of photographs, the work progress is shown.

Horno de barro (country oven) left side

Water carrier

The monolith defines the reference point for the mirrors alignment

Landscape view of the site work, and friends.